What is Household Hazardous Waste and what should you do with it?

Household Hazardous Waste (HHW) is any unusable or unwanted product found in your home, garage, shed or barn that can be hazardous to plants, animals, humans or the environment if it is not disposed of correctly. HHW should never be put in the trash, poured down the drain/on the ground, or burned.

Follow these procedures to properly handle HHW:

1. Make sure the substance is in a leak-proof container.
2. If possible, keep original label on container/with substance.
3. Bring HHW to the Recycling Center during Drive-Thru hours.
